Dear Mr. Ghosh:

On behalf of more than 200 loyal and dedicated workers in Lima, I write to express my concern for the Husky Energy workers represented by the United Steelworkers. It is my understanding that these workers have been on strike since May.

It was encouraging to read that both the union and the company have resumed negotiations. It is in this spirit that I ask management and the union to work diligently towards a fair agreement that will bring the loyal workers back to work.

Your employees have already shown time and time again that they are second to none in work ethic, productivity, and efficiency. Their jobs are not easy and they are often faced with situations that require them to respond with the utmost care and safety. Therefore, I ask that Husky Energy work towards an agreement that provides fair wages and benefits while ensuring that the workers maintain the necessary training, skills, and flexibility that have allowed them to perform their jobs so well, for so many years.

Concerted and continuing efforts to reach an agreement will benefit the company, the union and the entire Lima community. Failure to do so will bring economic hardship to the workers and their families with negative consequences in the community. It is time for Husky Energy and the United Steelworkers to come together and reach an agreement that will bring the workers back to work.

Please don't hesitate to call on me if I can be of assistance.

Sincerely,

Sherrod Brown
